

CAEP Accreditation

The College of Education completed our site visit this week for national accreditation. Not only did the Council of Accreditation for Educator Preparation (CAEP) team find that we met all standards and indicators for full accreditation, I am thrilled to announce that they also cited no areas for improvement or stipulations for the College, which is an extremely rare level of success. These exciting results are the product of tremendous work by many people, and I want to say a huge "THANK YOU" to all of the faculty and staff who made this possible. I am grateful for everyone's efforts for making the visit - and our accreditation - such a success, and especially your hard work in building a College that serves students in high quality and meaningful ways. Kudos and thanks!!

If you concentrate on what you don't have, you will never, ever have enough."
